

BRIDGE OPENED AT HERMITAGE

Moroni Skeen, Board Chairman, Makes Final Inspection

Opening of the new bridge in Ogden canyon, over the Ogden river, just above the Hermitage resort, was made this morning when Moroni Skeen, chairman of the Weber county board of commissioners inspected the work, declared it satisfactory and ordered obstructions cleared away so that traffic could proceed over the new steel structure.

The bridge has a wide concrete floor and is built of large, low steel girders with no overhead braces. It cost approximately $15,000.

This bridge has been under construction during the entire summer, the failure of steel to arrive having held up operations for months.

Commissioner Skeen won the distinction of being the first person to travel over the bridge when he drove his car across shortly after 9:30 o'clock this morning. Although there has been some protest against the use of steel in canyon bridges, owing to its appearance, the new structure is of graceful lines and blends well with the scenic beauty of the canyon.

J. M. BROWNING IS WITNESS IN SUIT

POCATELLO, Idaho, Oct. 19.—The case of the Woolley estate against the New York Life Insurance company, in which $20,000 insurance is sought for the death of Dr. H. S. Woolley, was in the hands of the jury last night.

J. C. Sellars, superintendent of the Revelare International Secret Service, was called by the defense and after being qualified as an authority on the results of gunfire of various kinds, testified that the shots which killed Dr. Woolley were fired by a gun held very close to the clothing.

M. Bendixsen, chief of police at the time of the tragedy, testified as to removing the pistol from the hand of Dr. Woolley.

Several witnesses were brought from without the state, among those being Dr. Woolley of Logan for the plaintiff, J. M. Browning, gun expert of Ogden, for the plaintiff, and former Chief of Police Bendixsen of Seattle for the defense. In addition there were more than 20 local residents called to the stand.

FOUR RALLIES WILL BE HELD

Democrats Import Speakers for City and County Meetings

Four Democratic rallies will mark the end of this week's activities of that party in Weber county. Two will be held in Ogden City, and two in the county. The speakers will include Utah's junior senator, W. H. King, seeking re-election, and J. Louis Brown, formerly of the district court bench in Salt Lake.

Judge Brown will speak this evening at the Seventh ward amusement hall, on Twelfth street. Local speakers will be on the program, while Senator King will appear at the Ogden tabernacle Saturday night. All these rallies will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Liberty and Farr West are county precincts to be reached by the campaign this week. A meeting will be held at both places Saturday night, but the speakers have not been definitely decided upon, although it is understood that former State Senator Joseph Chiez, James Brennan, manager of the Ogden Packing and Provision company, and Joseph Ririe, former state auditor, will take the stump for the Democrats during this campaign, and it is probable that from their number will be selected the principal speakers at the Farr West and Liberty meetings.

Baldwyn Robertson of Salt Lake, formerly district attorney of the Third judicial district, and a candidate for the nomination for congress at the Democratic convention this year, addressed voters in the Second ward at the Third Ward amusement hall last evening on the issues of the campaign. Other speakers were Joseph Ririe, former state auditor, and Ernest Wilkinson, candidate on the Democratic ticket for the office of county clerk and auditor.

Organization of a "King for Senator" club took place at Democratic headquarters last evening. Joseph Chiez, former state senator, was selected as president, and H. E. Garner, secretary. The headquarters' seating capacity was taxed by the crowd present. Short talks were made by the county chairman of the party, Stuart P. Dobbs, by E. L. Wilkinson, and Thomas Maginnis, candidate for district judge.

COURT REPORTER BECOMES LAWYER

Simon Barlow of Ogden, reporter in Judge George S. Barker's division of the district court, was one of four successful men in the state who passed examinations and were admitted to the Utah bar and authorized to practice law, yesterday before the supreme court of Utah.

Mr. Barlow, with 10 others, took the examination a month ago. The supreme court admitted but four, Mr. Barlow being the only Ogden applicant to pass. Judge Barker moved the admission of Mr. Barlow yesterday.

Mr. Barlow has studied law over a period of several years and attended law school in Chicago. He has been studying intensely during the last two years in Ogden. He will continue his duties as court reporter for the present, was announced, but later will enter law practice here.

GAMBLING CASE IN CITY COURT

Replete with the jargon of an habitué of gambling resorts, the trial of Frank Mandy, alias Manda, Red Tilley, Frank Boyer and H. D. (Frenchy) Caron, began in the city court this morning. They are charged with conducting a gambling house above the Grill cafe, 264 Twenty-fifth street.

Following the testimony of Louis Johnson, 2366 Grant avenue, star witness for the state, the court adjourned until this afternoon.

Johnson testified that on the afternoon of September 23 he had gone to the rooms above the Grill cafe where he had seen Mandy and Caron acting as gamekeepers in what he termed a stud-poker game.

He testified to seeing both men sell chips and act in the capacity of conducting the game.

TYRO AT GAME.
In his direct examination he testified that he knew nothing about gambling; that he was a tyro at the game and that he merely followed it for amusement.

Under cross-examination he admitted that he had played in the games on the afternoon and night in question. Asked by Attorney John G. Willis what he was playing he answered that he was playing "cinches." Requested to describe for the benefit of the court what "cinches" are he gave a technical description of what in the jargon of the gambling room is called "cinches," explaining in detail.

Queried again as to what he knew about gambling he denied any knowledge of the game, excepting that of a person that could not be rated with even having a laugh from the spectators that had crowded the courtroom to hear the trial.

OBJECTIONS MADE.
Objections were made and sustained by the court to questions by Attorney Willis tending to show that Johnson had been arrested for various offenses and that he had been put out of the rooms above the Grill cafe by Mandy on the same day that the alleged attempt to pick pockets of a coat that was hanging on the wall of the room.

Attorney Willis insisted that his questions went to the credibility of the witness and took exceptions to the rulings of the court.

The adjournment was ordered when it became apparent that the state was unable to find one of its witnesses.

FOR COUNTY CLERK AND AUDITOR

To The Voters and Taxpayers of Weber County.

Having received the nomination for County Clerk and Auditor on the Republican ticket and believing that you are interested in the qualifications and fitness of those coming before the voters for public office, I take this opportunity of briefly stating my past record and experience so that you may better judge of my fitness for the office.

I was born in Ogden and attended the Ogden public schools and the Ogden high school. I have served several years as a deputy in the office, the past three and one-half years prior to my appointment as Clerk and Auditor last August, as chief deputy clerk and head of the Auditor's department.

I have had, in addition to the time spent in the County Clerk and Auditor's office, two years' experience in the office of the D. & R. G. railroad company, four years in the Auditor's office of the Union Pacific dining car and hotel department and two years as an accountant in the general office of the Amalgamated Sugar company. Those who are not closely associated with the office may be interested to know that the County Clerk is clerk of the Board of County Commissioners and of the County Board of Equalization. As County Auditor he passes upon all claims before they are presented for payment and issues all warrants in payment thereof. He is also required to audit the books and records of all county offices and departments and see that all taxes are properly accounted for and distributed to the respective taxing districts. In my capacity as head of this department I have always insisted on strict economy and have frequently submitted recommendations for curtailment of expenditures and better methods of accounting to the heads of departments and to the Board of County Commissioners. Three years ago I installed a new and up-to-date system of accounting in the Auditor's office and have made monthly reports showing the status of the county's finances to the Board of County Commissioners.

As for economy in the office I might state that since January 1, 1921, there has been one less deputy in the office and part of the time two less than there has been for ten years previous, notwithstanding the fact that the records show a material increase of work in all departments of the office. I am now doing work in the Auditor's department formerly handled by a deputy, in addition to the general supervision of the office and will continue in this position if elected, the office this year over $2,000 less than in 1921.

If in your judgment my qualifications and experience have qualified me for the position I am now seeking, I earnestly solicit your support November 7.
